TEXT A

THE CLASSIC AMERICAN SNEAKER

1. Converse is an American shoe company which has been making canvas and rubber-soled shoes since the early 20th century. In 2007, Converse started producing a wide range of occupational safety shoes that resemble their regular athletic shoes.
2. In 1908, Marquis M. Converse, in his late 30s, opened the Converse Rubber Shoe Company in Massachusetts and began providing rubber-soled footwear for men, women, and children. By 1910 the company was producing 4 000 pairs of shoes daily.
3. The company's main turning point came in 1917 when the Converse All Star basketball shoe was introduced. This was a real innovation, considering that, at the time, the sport was only 25 years old. Converse tried to capture the basketball market, but the shoe was not particularly popular. Then in 1921, a basketball player named Charles H. "Chuck" Taylor adopted them as his preferred sports shoes. After a few changes the shoe got its current name with Chuck Taylor's signature on its ankle patch. Converse offered him a job – as a salesman and an ambassador to promote the shoes around the United States. He tirelessly continued this work until shortly before his death in 1969.
4. Converse steamed ahead through the 1920s and 1930s as the nation's interest in basketball surged. Converse and basketball became synonymous as the Converse Chuck Taylor All Star became the standard basketball shoes for professional, college, and high school teams across the country. When America entered World War II in 1941, Converse shifted production to manufacturing military boots, parkas, rubber protective suits, and ponchos for pilots and troops.
5. Also referred to as "Cons", "Connies", "Chuckers", "Chucks", "Chuckie T's", for decades the Chuck Taylor All Star basketball shoe only came in black or white. Under pressure from basketball teams it was decided in 1966 to add coloured and patterned shoelaces. Different materials started to appear, such as leather, suede, vinyl, denim and hemp.
6. In 1986, Converse released "The Weapon" basketball shoe, manufactured in colour schemes to match the colours of basketball teams. The unique aspect of this shoe was the leather construction throughout, including the inside heel, which was also heavily padded for comfort.

7. Converse lost much of its apparent near-monopoly from the 1970s onward, with the surge of new competitors such as Nike, Adidas and Reebok, who introduced radical new designs to the market.
8. In January 2001 the company subsequently changed hands. Manufacturing for the American market moved to a number of Asian countries, including China, Indonesia and Vietnam. Finally, on July 9, 2003, the company was taken over by its rival, Nike.
9. Since then, the design has had a few alterations. The fabric is no longer 2-ply cotton canvas but 1-ply "textile". It is also fashionable to sometimes lace the Converse in a variety of ways - such as putting mismatching laces. No wonder Converse is considered very "cool" by most youths. Sixty percent of all Americans own or have owned at least one pair of Converse sneakers. Some are so enthusiastic about the sneakers that they have a vast, ever-growing collection. According to The Guinness Book of World Records, Joshua Mueller has the largest collection of "Chucks" (1546 pairs).

SECTION B: SUMMARY

QUESTION 2

Read the article below (TEXT C), entitled, SAFETY FIRST: SAVINGS LIVES ON OUR ROADS. Use the information in the text to present 7 ways in which drivers can promote safety on the road.

TEXT C

INSTRUCTIONS:

List SEVEN points in full sentences using NO MORE than 70 words.

- Number your sentences 1 to 7.
- Write only ONE point per sentence.
- Indicate the total number of words you have used in brackets at the end of the summary.

South Africa's road accidents, are amongst the highest in the world. So, what is your duty as a driver?

Texting and driving is deadly! If you're travelling at 88km/h, you are driving further than the length of a football field keeping your eyes off the road! If you must text, pull over to a safe spot. The golden rule is not to text and drive. While on the road you will inevitably want to move from one lane to another. Simply indicate and in this way, you will let your fellow driver know where you are going and when.

Unlike your skin, tyres should not be smooth. You are encouraged to check your tyre tread regularly. Your car could be going off the road quicker than you think with those uneven treads. Not all drivers are careful on the road and there is bound to be someone on the road who will anger you. Breathe deeply when that taxi cuts in front of you! You could end up being in an accident if you remain angry at that driver. An angry driver, is a reckless driver.

A moving car is like a moving missile. If you want to make sure you and your fellow road user is safe, make a firm commitment not to get behind the wheel if you are tired or sleep as you need to give driving your full attention. As you drive along the roads you will find a board telling you, 'speed kills'. Yes, it's true... Stick to your speed limit by slowing down when you are required to do so. All cars come with a service record. Make sure your keep to your service intervals to protect your family from a sudden breakdown, with oncoming traffic behind you. Safety first!

HOW TO READ BODY LANGUAGE
1. Body language make up 50 to 100% of a conversation, whether we mean it to or not. Since people do not always say what they mean, Robert Phipps, body language expert on a TV show, tells you how to interpret this non-verbal clues.	5
2. Eye contact is one of the most important aspects of body language. Most of us are comfortable with a few second's eye contact, but anything longer can seem aggressive or intense. Equally, if you are talking to a friend who looks away a lot, assume he is bored.	10
3. If someone is on the same wavelength as you, he will often adopt the same posture as you. So if people start too copy you, it means they are open to your ideas. Most people cross their arms if they are feeling defensive or negative. So, even if someone says he agrees with you and he still crosses his arms, he really does not agree.	15
4. If you are training someone, it is usefull to know how his mind works. If a person's eyes move up and to the left while you are talking to him, he processes information visually. Yesterday, Robert Phipps said, "Mary, your eyes are the windows to your soul."	15
5. When a person is lying he tends to become generally less expressive with his hands, but makes a lot of shrugging and hand-to-face movements. [Adapted from Reader's Digest, March 2014]
